

light
Gives birth (makes a copy)
Needs water
Responds to water
Does not DIE
Can be repaired
Gets sick/disease
Smiles
Gets angry
Is needed by living beings
Is needed by non-living beings.
Dreams
Remembers
Sleeps

Concepts covered:

Living beings have some very common characteristics as compared to non-living beings

All living beings convert (mass) energy from one form to another all the time. This process is continuous and automatic.

When this energy conversion process ceases, the being is DEAD